Italian Peace Treaty Becomes Effective Today

Documents Ratifying Allied Peace Treaty With Italy Formally Deposited

OTHER TREATIES ALSO IN EFFECT (BULLETIN)

PARIS, Sept. 15.—(INS)—Documents ratifying the Allied peace treaty with Italy were deposited at the French foreign office today by officials of the United States, Britain, France, Russia and Italy.

The treaty, under which Italy regains the status of a sovereign state, becomes effective at midnight GMT (8 p. m. EDT).

Representatives of the Allied nations met at 11 a. m. and laid down the instruments of ratification, each in a red box, and then signed minutes of deposition.

Italian Ambassador Pietro Quarini, accompanied by Embassy Counsellor Marquis Franz Cacchetti, arrived at the foreign office at 11:35. In a brief ceremony lasting less than a minute, he laid down the Italian instrument of ratification in the treaty office with the chief of Protocol.

On Bidault's Office

The Allied diplomats deposited their instruments in the office of Foreign Minister Georges Bidault who acted for the French.

Representing the U. S. was Ambassador Jefferson Caffery. Russia was represented by Alexandre Bogomolov, Soviet ambassador to Paris. Ashley Clark, counsellor of the British embassy, acted in the place of Ambassador Alfred Duff Cooper who was in London.

Bidault shook hands with all three and declared:

"This is the result of a painful effort. I hope it will allow us to enter a long path of peace."

Caffery, only one of the four diplomats wearing morning dress, said he left:

"It was a very, very nice brief ceremony."

Ambassador Quarini said his part in the ceremony was marked by brevity and added:

State Of War Over

"After delivering the instrument of ratification I signed the minutes with the secretary general of the foreign office and that is all."

Asked his feelings, the Italian ambassador replied:

"Well you know, or rather you can guess, my feelings. But there is one

Expect Hurricane To Veer Northward, Then Out To Sea

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 15.—(INS)—The roaring tropical hurricane in south Atlantic waters that has been heading toward the United States mainland since last Thursday was expected today to veer northward and then out to sea.

The center of the hurricane was located about 250 miles east northeast of Nassau in the Bahamas at 6 a. m. (EST).

The hurricane was reported moving along a course west northwestward to northwest. The Miami weather bureau said there was a possibility the storm would curve today toward the north.

The bureau reported, in its 5:30 a. m. advisory, that the hurricane had slowed from its previous speed of 20 miles an hour to a speed of 12-14 miles an hour.

Strongest winds were reaching a velocity of 125-140 miles an hour with winds of hurricane force extending 70 miles from the center. Gales reached as far as 200 miles to the north and east.

Coroner Luther J. King said Clark was killed instantly when the plane, in which he was taking flying instruction, crashed near Meadville, Pa., Sept. 15.—(INS)—

Two rescue boats were sent to the mouth of the Bush River on Chesapeake Bay today after reports were received that a big plane had crashed and burst into flames at that point.

Radio reports from the U. S. freighter American Ranger in Chesapeake Bay said the plane may have been an Army B-17 from Aberdeen Proving Grounds. Aberdeen is ten miles from where the Bush River empties into the bay.

The convicted men allegedly were responsible for the murder of a high police official as well as a court prosecutor.

In addition they were charged with an attack on a Greek air force motor bus last November in which five airmen were killed.

There were no immediate details on the numbers of the crew or possible passengers who may have been aboard the plane.

Daily Weather Report

Reports have been made to County Agent L. C. Dayton, that considerable damage is being caused at the present time by tomato blight, caused by the recent wet weather.

The most effective control method is to spray the affected plants with a 6-3-100 solution of Nordeaua Mixture.

If this cannot be used, the plants may be dusted with a fixed copper dust, containing a seven per cent actual copper, or be sprayed with a fixed copper spray solution.

Spraying should be done every five days, and dusting every three days until the trouble has been corrected.

Statistics for the 24-hour period ending at 9 o'clock Sunday morning, are as follows:

Maximum temperature, 82.

Minimum temperature, 65.

Precipitation, 16 inches.

Special Congress Call Is Still Being Urged

By GEORGE DURNO
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—Brief word from the battleship Missouri that President Truman still sees no reason for calling a special session on Congress today has leading administration spokesmen awaiting his return from Brazil with far more than passing interest.

Over a period of weeks, key U. S. figures grappling with Europe's desperate plight have been building up a picture which requires return of Congress to Washington.

While the presidential battleship headed for an anchorage at Norfolk, Va., this Friday, reports from abroad grew steadily grimmer.

Stop-Gap Aid

There is unanimity of top Washington opinion that Europe must have stop-gap aid to stave off "intolerable hunger and cold" this winter. There also is unanimity that such aid must be extended before the end of the year—and that congressional action is necessary.

Those who have done everything short of actually suggesting a spe-

Secretary Marshall And Aides Confer On Surprise Proposals For Assembly

U. S. POSITION IS GIVEN ON ISSUES (BULLETIN)

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—(INS)—Secretary of State Marshall, from his field headquarters at the United States mission to the United Nations, plotted today a two-front campaign to halt Russian expansionism.

Marshall arrived at his private office at the mission's headquarters at 9:00 a. m. (EDT), an hour before officials and technical experts went into a huddle on immediate pressing problems due to come up before the General Assembly.

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Secretary of State George C. Marshall and his top aides are conferring today on the surprise proposals which he plans to make after the United Nations General Assembly opens tomorrow.

Marshall promised the surprises in his first major address on the U. N. yesterday. He said, however, he could not reveal their nature in advance of the 55-nation assembly.

Plot "Battle Of Peace"

Marshall at day-long conferences will plot the "battle of the peace" in an urgent effort to save the U. N. from impotency and to evolve tactics designed to heal the east-west split.

Marshall gave a broad blueprint of his objectives in the battle he will supervise personally in the coming weeks in yesterday's nationwide radio broadcast. The talk served as a curtain raiser for the observance of

Nineteenth Veto By Soviet Russia Indicated Today

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Sept. 15.—The nineteenth Soviet veto today is expected to block the United Nations Security Council from recommending action on Greece to the General Assembly.

The 11-nation body is meeting at 3 p. m. under Soviet Delegate Andrei Gronovko's chairmanship in response to a demand by U. S. Representative Herschel V. Johnson for clearing aside technical barriers to giving the fifty-five nation assembly a free hand in considering the issue.

Optimists Overshadowed

The prophets of gloom this year far overshadow the optimists. Predictions predominate that the many weeks of deliberations, far from bridging the gulf between the East and West, will merely widen it.

There are more than 60 agenda listed on the assembly's agenda, some of them extremely volatile.

The major ones contain political problems which form the foundation of the intense rivalry between the United States and Soviet Russia. They are the core of the "cold war" being waged between the two great world powers.

Balkan Question

The Balkan question was introduced at the request of the United States, which wishes the assembly to take up "threats to the political independence and territorial integrity of Greece".

The 70,000-word report of the Palestine committee includes both a majority and a minority report on the eventual governmental and territorial settlement.

The majority, consisting of Canada, Czechoslovakia, Guatemala, the Netherlands, Peru, Sweden and Uruguay, recommended a three-part division of Palestine into an

Doolittle And Tokyo Raiders At Convention

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 15.—(INS)—Jimmy Doolittle and his Tokyo raiders, supported by delegates to the first annual air force association convention, struck with full force today at "target Columbus".

The former Eighth Air Force commander flew into Ohio's capital yesterday to open the two-day conference.

The U. S. already has listed the Balkan problem on the assembly agenda under the heading of "threats to the political independence and territorial integrity of Greece."

The president was said to have rejected flatly appeals that he make a political tour through the west soon after he returns to the United States from his visit to Brazil.

The president was represented as believing his job is to stick to his task in Washington in view of the situation in international affairs and the necessity of helping western Europe in its economic plight.

Mr. Truman at least twice in the past six months has given strong hints to those Democratic committee seeking to have him board a train and make a leisurely public tour through the west.

The persistent pressure for such a trip upon his return from Rio De Janeiro has an additional embarrassing effect.

The days are getting shorter and the corn silk's getting brown, leaves are turning just a trifle and a few of them are down; nights suggest that fall is coming, there's a tiny hint of chill, all of which leads to the statement that the summer's had its fill. Not too warm except in patches, trifle wet, know what I mean? But of course it helped the golfers as they putted on the green. But the crops are mostly gathered, like the oats and wheat and hay, and the fall's just round the corner—weather's eighty-one today.

ceremonies in the Mall at Washington. In other communities prominent speakers will inaugurate the recruiting campaign.

The drive has been named "operation 88,888" in recognition of the two-month goal. The figure 88,888 was arrived at when recruiters calculated and that that number of new guardsmen would represent approximately one enlistment per minute during the two-month period.

The guard currently has a strength of more than 117,000 men and a final M-day goal of 882,000 has been set. M-day is mobilization day, and before 1952 the war department hopes to have 682,000 men trained with the most modern weapons ready for immediate mobilization in the event of enemy aggression.

"That cigarette shortage during the war was a real experience. That's when I learned how much I really appreciated Camels. They suit me to a 'T'!"

Yes, that shortage was a revealing experience to smokers everywhere. One day they smoked one brand—next day a different brand. Now and then the brand was Camel. That's how so many more smokers learned . . . from experience . . . that Camels suit them best.

Words Of Wisdom

Friendship improves happiness, and abates misery, by doubling our joy, and dividing our grief.—Addison.

Looking At Life

By Erich Brandeis

Well, we are home again, after a 700-mile jaunt through New Hampshire and Maine.

We both love bumming around through the country in our car, but I think the nicest part of traveling is getting back into your own bed, gazing at your own table the food cooked by your own wife.

I have nothing against hotel mattresses, and some of the meals we had on our trip were excellent.

But with all their elaborateness and expertise, they could not compare with what my wife served when we arrived home last night.

Here is the menu: Frankfurters picked up at a delicatessen store on the way back. Beans out of one of the many cans we have in our pantry for just such emergencies. Cauliflower salad (the cauliflower left over from the supper of the night before we left five days ago) and steaming hot, freshly brewed coffee.

Had they served us that same meal in a restaurant I would have raised the dickens. But at home it was wonderful!

Being very tired, we ate in the kitchen. I had changed into an old pair of pants, a well-worn sports shirt and my old run-down-at-the-heels shoes and my wife into her slacks and blouse.

That was the life, we both agreed, and there is no place like home, particularly when you have been away for a while.

Supper over, I lit my pipe and asked my wife whether I could help with the dishes.

"There you go fooling again," she answered, "you know darn well you have no intention to help with the dishes."

Being a well trained husband of almost 26 years standing and not wanting to hurt her feelings by contradicting her, I reluctantly refrained from forcing my assistance on her, retired to the porch and watched the moon rise over the trees.

There had been a moon the night before and the night before that. But one was a New Hampshire moon and the other a Massachusetts moon.

This, however, was my own moon, my Connecticut moon—the moon over our own home for which we saved and worked and which is ours and ours alone.

And you will concede, won't you, that no moon shines as brightly as our very own moon over your very own home which you watch from your very own porch.

After a time my wife was finished with the dishes and joined me on the porch.

So there we sat and talked. And while the moon overhead, when people have been married for more than a quarter of a century, has not quite the magic influence of a moon that shines upon two young lovers in a rowboat on a lake, we both felt very, very contented and quite well satisfied with life.

Now it was eleven and time to go to bed.

I had intended to tell you all about our trip in today's column. But just thinking of that wonderful sleep in my own bed again—on that mattress whose every indentation fitted me as well as a tailor-made suit, makes me sleepy again.

So, goodbye until tomorrow, and may you always sleep as tightly as I slept last night.

ACCEPTING INTRODUCTIONS

"Just what is the rule governing the acceptance of introductions? For instance, what is the procedure when an unwelcome introduction comes along? Must it be accepted? Also when I am introduced to someone I had met before should the previous meeting be mentioned? What should I do when I do not remember the name of a person to whom I have been introduced and with whom I engage in conversation later?"

Answer: An introduction, no matter how unwelcome or unpleasant the circumstances, must be courteously acknowledged. This applies even if you are being introduced to your worst enemy. You may ignore him later but at the introduction show no enmity. You may, thereafter, politely avoid his glance but, without inexcusably bad manners, there is no way to avoid a polite and dignified acknowledgment of an introduction, even if it is merely a nod.

"How do you do" is the generally accepted form of acknowledgment. And it will "bridge the gap" if the person to whom you are introduced for the second time does not remember your previous meeting. Or if you wish, you might say: "I have already had the pleasure of meeting Mrs. Smith."

Should anyone recall a previous introduction, never admit that you don't remember it. Be diplomatic and say "oh yes, it is nice to see you again."

When you have forgotten the name of a person to whom you had just been introduced, try to avoid any reference to it and perhaps someone will come to your rescue before long. Listen carefully when introduced so that you will not be faced with this embarrassing problem. Do not, in desperation, guess at her name. If you are forced to refer to it say: "I'm sorry but I didn't hear your name distinctly. Do not brusquely ask "What is your name?"

It was a combination of competition and free profit motive that built American economy to the point where it has yielded the best living on earth for the most people. The rights and benefits Americans have enjoyed under liberty have been so obvious that they have taken them for granted.

Americans who are inclined to listen to the hoarse outcries for economic change should first examine the motives that are behind them. And they should compare their own standard of living with that in any other country in the world.

"Ike's" Peak Or Bust!

The World and the

Mud Puddles

JOB FOR THE "U. N."

In keeping with the New Deal's saving complex President Truman asks Congress for legislation permitting the entry into this country of "a substantial number" of Europe's displaced persons, or war refugees.

The sentiment is excellent and the great majority of Americans probably sympathize deeply with the hundreds of thousands in Europe who have been hopelessly dislocated by the war.

Would Be Mistake

It may appear to many citizens, however, that in this case, as in some others, the United States could be making the mistake of assuming a responsibility which belongs to the world at large.

While we have been proud in the past to offer a haven to the oppressed and distressed of other nations, conditions are not exactly propitious at this time for taking on the burden of unduly heavy immigration.

We have not the housing to care for our own people, including a large number of our veterans. We have a considerable amount of unemployment, with the possibility of more.

We are carrying about as heavy a burden of welfare taxation as we can stand.

Back of the dilemma of most of Europe's displaced persons stands Russia. Thousands of former residents of Poland—including about one hundred twenty thousand Polish soldiers who fought with the Allies—simply will not return to their homeland so long as it is under Soviet dictatorship.

Other thousands from Yugoslavia, Hungary and Austria have the same feeling.

Even more thousands have fled voluntarily from the Baltic States of Latvia and Estonia. They simply cannot tolerate Russian Communistic dictatorship.

These unfortunate, of course, cannot be abandoned. But there exists under the "U. N." a world organization presumed to deal with the problem of refugees. Why not utilize this agency before we throw our own gates wide—presuming that the "U. N." is worth as much as it is supposed to be worth.

And you have to be a New Dealer to have faith in that organization.

Now it was eleven and time to go to bed.

I had intended to tell you all about our trip in today's column. But just thinking of that wonderful sleep in my own bed again—on that mattress whose every indentation fitted me as well as a tailor-made suit, makes me sleepy again.

So, goodbye until tomorrow, and may you always sleep as tightly as I slept last night.

Health Talks

City Health Superintendent

SCRATCHES AND CUTS

When Tillie cuts her finger she wants something done about it. She usually wants some medicine on it. The medicine must have some color in it, usually red.

Then she wants a rag on it too.

Perhaps the best way to dress a cut or scratch is to apply a clean pad. It is just as well not to put on any antiseptic idea.

It is a pretty good idea for mother to have a supply of sterile pads.

She can make them out of gauze, muslin or paper. A little pad like a stick of chewing gum may be wrapped in paper and baked in the oven with the dinner some day.

A supply of these pads of different sizes will stay sterile and can be used when needed.

If Butch stubs his toe, mother can fix it up with a sterile pad and he will be the envy of the neighborhood.

There is no way to avoid a polite and dignified acknowledgment of an introduction, even if it is merely a nod.

"How do you do" is the generally accepted form of acknowledgment.

And it will "bridge the gap" if the person to whom you are introduced for the second time does not remember your previous meeting. Or if you wish, you might say: "I have already had the pleasure of meeting Mrs. Smith."

Should anyone recall a previous introduction, never admit that you don't remember it. Be diplomatic and say "oh yes, it is nice to see you again."

When you have forgotten the name of a person to whom you had just been introduced, try to avoid any reference to it and perhaps someone will come to your rescue before long.

Listen carefully when introduced so that you will not be faced with this embarrassing problem.

Do not, in desperation, guess at her name. If you are forced to refer to it say: "I'm sorry but I didn't hear your name distinctly. Do not brusquely ask "What is your name?"

It was a combination of competition and free profit motive that built American economy to the point where it has yielded the best living on earth for the most people. The rights and benefits Americans have enjoyed under liberty have been so obvious that they have taken them for granted.

Americans who are inclined to listen to the hoarse outcries for economic change should first examine the motives that are behind them. And they should compare their own standard of living with that in any other country in the world.

From Me To You

By MESEALL

The Hay Fever sufferers are looking forward to the first frost . . . and relief . . . It won't be too long either until their wish will come true. The air was filled this morning with the smell of fall . . . which would be very pleasant if not for the fact that fall is followed by winter . . . and winter wouldn't be too bad if there would be nothing but snow. It's the slush that makes things so miserable.

A local politician who didn't fair so well in the recent contest . . . says the following few words when he is feeling low:

Though I am beaten
Nobody will know:
I'll wear defeat so proudly
I shall goAbout my business
As I did before:
Only, when I have safely
Closed the doorThough I am beaten
Nobody shall guess
For I will walk
As though I know success.Against you and the rest
Shall I be free
To bow my head—
When there is none to see.Tonight I'll shed my tears;
Tomorrow, when
I talk with you
I will be gay again.Though I am beaten
Nobody shall guess
For I will walk
As though I know success.

Hints On Etiquette

It is not necessary for a man to rise when a woman employee enters his office, but he should when a woman visitor enters.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

KEEP RELIGION, STUDENTS URGED

To the young man and woman entering college, I venture a word for consideration: Don't leave your spiritual striving, your religion, indeed, at home. Take it with you to college, and while at college, stick to it.

Though it is highly probable you will revise and broaden a few of your notions, you would do well to hold fast to the basic portion of your religious background, at least until you are sure you have worked out something more satisfying and enduring in relation to your aspirations and sense of otherness.

Intellectual Angle

Just keep in mind that in nearly all your lectures and studies at college, you will dwell chiefly on the merely intellectual. There is no strong certainty that you will be exposed to much in your college training to cause you to dwell long and often on wide values not made with hands nor bought with price, except a few mental skills and bits of knowledge.

You may have some professors who will take delight in making you feel that your parents are benighted because of their religious background. Even in high school you may have had some similar teachers.

Professor's Prestige

Under the spell of the professor's prestige (at college) and the readiness of other students to accept his words as final on everything, regardless of how little he may know about it, you may grow panicky. Just remember that no person can know very much about even one thing, let alone all things and values. Unless you keep your head you may suddenly resolve to scrap all your religious beliefs (secretly at least) and lose regard for your parents.

Now when any youth, for such reason, comes to look down on his parents as benighted, the same parents he used to look up to with great trust and affection, has sustained a loss of something very precious; and not the least of this loss is the impairment of his mental health. If you feel confused or troubled, write or talk to your pastor, priest or rabbi calmly over these matters.

A True Scholar

We maintain that if the teacher is truly a scholar he will take into account the emotional life of the student and his family relations; that he will clearly present facts which have been verified by undisputed scientific methods; statements beyond these facts he will label as mere beliefs or theories. Indeed, he may be justified in stating that this or that theory is believed as a fact only by certain scholars or groups of scholars. Yet he also should state that this theory, if such be the case, is in conflict with some beliefs which some students and their parents may have held.

We suggest that he should farther, and advise his students not to let themselves grow upset over such conflict but to stick to their particular religious faith until they are convinced they have worked out a more satisfying philosophy of life in its place; that they would do well to talk it over with their spiritual adviser. In this way the teacher could satisfy his own desire for "scholarship," self-respect and moral integrity without unduly upsetting the youth emotionally or religiously, and without impairing the youth's relationships with his parents. Thus he would exemplify understanding and tolerance.

IT'S A WORLDS

Reports indicate that some Europeans are becoming resentful at what they consider belated interference by the state department on a plan they thought they themselves were to draw up.

Yet the Americans, trying to avoid giving Russia some "I told you so" ammunition, are also trying to implant in the European mind the fact that the United States is not going to appropriate billions of dollars anyway unless the United States has a voice in the disposition of the fund.

Britain To Stay Independent

Sir Stafford Cripps, British board of trade president, declared Friday that Britain is going to remain "economically independent" in her fight to avert disaster.

Many will discount this assertion as having little or no bearing, however, on the Marshall aid plan if it goes through. The British already have accepted and practically exhausted the three and three-quarters billion dollar American loan. And the loan certainly had restrictive clauses.

Alternatives

1. The United States can hand over more dollars and try to control their disposition in a way to put Europe back on its feet. This in itself will be difficult even if Congress votes the money.

2. The American taxpayers can take Europe the money and can

Lawrence County Has Good Apple Yield

—New Castle News Photo

In spite of the heavy frost when fruit trees were blossoming this spring, there will be a normal apple and peach crop in Lawrence county L. C. Dayton of the local agricultural extension office, said today, following a tour of Lawrence county orchards. The apple crop will be spotty with certain varieties, such as Stamen and Delicious, being light while varieties like the Baldwin bearing heavy.

Ed Syling of the Ellwood City road is shown here beside an apple tree in his orchard which is typical of his crop. Many of the branches on these trees are near the breaking point because of the heavy fruit. Mr. Syling raises mostly Yellow and Red Delicious with a few trees of Baldwins and other varieties. His orchard covers about an acre of land from which he is expecting to pick between 800 and 1000 bushels of apples. Many of the trees in the Syling orchard boast of more than one variety to a tree. Picking of peaches and early apples is now under way in Lawrence county.

Sees Television Major Industry

Sarnoff Of RCA Predicts Great Strides In Industry In Coming Year

ATLANTIC City, N. J., Sept. 15.—(INS)—Brig. Gen. David Sarnoff, chairman of the board of the Radio Corporation of America, predicted Saturday that television will become one of the major industries of the United States.

The NBC head told delegates to the NBC convention in Atlantic City that in the first two years of television operation—1947 and 1948—the public will spend an estimated 375 million dollars on receiving sets. He added:

"This emphasizes the possibilities of television as a new American industry."

Sarnoff said that the days for saying "television is around the corner" are over.

"Television," he said, "has entered our home and will remain there."

Sarnoff visualized the potential of television by stating that automatic radio relay stations—either alone or in combination with coaxial cable—show great promise for speeding the extension of television program service throughout the nation.

Pointing out that radio relay stations are in operation between 100 cities, Sarnoff said: "Virtually these microwave stations will reach out further to additional communities in network service, especially to cities not reached by coaxial cables."

Sarnoff also predicted that international television will be achieved "in about five years."

The RCA chairman said that the use of television will go far beyond the entertainment field. He pointed out that successful Navy underwater television experiments have opened up an entirely new field in deepwater investigations and novel television programs. He added:

"Fishermen will use television to locate schools of fish and oyster beds. Explorers can scan marine life on the ocean floor, as well as wrecks, by lowering television cameras into the sea. Submarines may yet be equipped with television eyes."

Beaver County Coroner Probes Double Crime

Man And Estranged Wife Are Victims Of Shooting In Beaver Falls Home

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Sept. 15.—(INS)—Coroner J. M. Davis today ordered an inquest into the apparent murder and suicide of an Aliquippa, Pa., man and his estranged wife Sunday in a Beaver Falls home.

Coroner Davis said Lonnie Tipper, 30, of Aliquippa, killed himself after fatally wounding his wife, Frances, 27, at the home of her mother, Mrs. Daisy Barrett.

Mrs. Barrett, 54, was seriously wounded during the gunplay.

Two small children of the couple were in the house at the time of the shootings.

Davis said a note found on Tipper indicated jealousy was the motive for the murder and suicide.

But, too often, the second cutting is stored on top of the mow and is the first to be fed out to the cows, leaving the earlier cuttings, which possibly is less palatable, for the whole herd, including the calves, for the remainder of the year.

To develop capacity in dairy cattle, it is necessary to get young calves to eat large quantities of hay. The best way to do this is to have hay that is very palatable. Leafy green-colored second-cutting hay is palatable. It also is high in vitamins A and D that are essential to proper growth of young calves.

Probably the most neglected animals on dairy farms are the yearling heifers. After they are fed a ration of only hay and silage, if the hay and silage is of excellent quality it will be sufficient. This fall with the poor quality of the hay and much of the silage to be immature, it will be necessary to supplement the roughage with from 3 to 5 pounds of grain a day for each growing heifer.

Beaver Falls Man Held For Coroner

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Sept. 15.—(INS)—Robert Murphy, 23, of Beaver Falls, today was held without charge pending a coroner's inquest into the death of Boyd Langnecker, 59, a boarder at the home of Murphy's mother, Mrs. Verna Murphy.

Murphy told police he heard his mother cry for help Saturday, and when he came to her aid found Langnecker "shoving" her around.

He said he struggled with Langnecker, pushed him, and the older man fell down, striking his head against a chair.

He was pronounced dead when he reached a hospital.

PRISON INMATES TO GET UTENSILS

MOUNTAINVILLE, W. Va., Sept. 15.—(INS)—Prisoners of Mountainville state penitentiary will soon be given the privilege of eating with forks and knives for the first time in years.

Board of Control President Joseph Terrell said the policy of refusing convicts the use of knives and forks was to prevent them from using the implements as weapons.

However, he added, this was inconsistent, citing opportunities the men had to acquire a weapon while at work in prison shops.

PITTSBURGH NEEDS MORE MALE TEACHERS

PITTSBURGH—(INS)—What Pittsburgh elementary schools need are more male teachers.

John P. Schaefer, administrative assistant to Dr. Earl A. Dimmick, Pittsburgh superintendent of schools, brought that to the fore as school opened a few days ago.

His report showed that in elementary schools there were 34 men and 993 women.

Said Schaefer: "The children in elementary classes should hear bass voices as well as soprano and alto voices."

He also wants more men for high school teaching.

Altogether, Pittsburgh started the fall school term still short 150 teachers. Their places were being filled by substitutes.

Wyoming was named from a beautiful valley in the northeastern part of Pennsylvania.

Seek 'Wildcat' And Her Kittens

JENKINTOWN MANOR, Pa.—(INS)—Residents of the Holmcrest road section of Jenkintown Manor are on the lookout for a mother "wildcat" and her five kittens.

The felines have been keeping the neighborhood in an uproar ever since they were first seen by William P. Datz, president of the Cedarbrook Country club, on the front porch of his home.

When Datz attempted to remove them, they scratched and hissed. The kittens, according to Datz, are about six inches long and "mostly wild".

The cats are continuing to prowl the neighborhood and their walls keep many residents wide-eyed at night. Persons who have attempted to catch them describe the animals as "streaks of lightning".

Anyway, the residents promise, that if they ever get their hands on the cats, they'll need more lives than nine to continue to live.

Rainfall in Washington state ranges from 140 inches to 10 inches a year in different areas.

Convict Man Of Strangling Wife

CAPE MAY COURT HOUSE, N. J., Sept. 15.—(INS)—Ernest H. Corson, Jr., 30, today awaited sentence following his conviction on second-degree murder for the strangulation of his wife, Eleanor, 28, last Jan. 28.

Corson, father of four children, drove his wife's body to an undertaker following the strangulation in a lonely lane. He told police she had been guilty of numerous infidelities.

A jury of three women and nine men deliberated nearly seven hours before returning the verdict yesterday. The verdict carries a 10-to-20 year prison term.

Confusion Over Lottery News

Senator Asks Newspaper Publishers
To Establish 'Some Standard'
To Govern Issue

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—(INS)—Sen. Langer (R) N.D., chairman of the Senate Civil Service Committee, today called upon the nation's newspaper publishers to establish "some standard" that would govern the printing of lottery news in order to prevent individual postmasters from establishing a censorship.

Langer said in a statement that recent rulings by the Postoffice Department have been "inconsistent" and have resulted in "confusion." He stated:

"I have watched with interest the developments in the case of the postmaster at St. Louis who was given official support of the Postoffice Department in his contention that the mere printing of news concerning the North Carolina episode, that a colored man had won an automobile in a drawing, constituted a violation. The fact that the department has reversed its position only serves to heighten the confusion."

Langer pointed out that the story was carried by all news services and printed through the U. S. He said the St. Louis postmaster objected to its publication, but other postmasters did not follow suit.

Langer asserted:

RISING PRICES UPSET BUDGETS

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 15.—(INS)—Rising food prices were pictured today as upsetting the budgets of orphans and other institutions in Philadelphia.

Officials of two institutions reported they had already exceeded their 1947 food budgets and were using substitutes for meat, eggs and bread.

A spokesman for a Meat Dealers' Association meanwhile suggested that housewives be educated to buy cheaper grades of meat—and to cook them longer.

Old Spanish Swindle Again Worked For $8200

By FRANCES SPATZ

(L. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—James J. Doran, chief inspector of the post office department, disclosed today that a prominent American exporter has fallen victim to the old "Spanish prisoner swindle" to the tune of $8,200.

Doran said that the unnamed American parted with the cash in the happy belief that he had a "sure thing" which would double his money many times over. He even flew down to Mexico City to deliver the $8,200 in person.

The case involves a letter purporting to have been written by a Mexican financier jailed for bankruptcy, a trunk containing a secret compartment with $375,000 cash, another secret compartment containing the baggage check for the trunk, and a picture of a girl beauty enough to hold the title of "Miss Mexico."

Doran said these details are distressingly similar to those used in the old Spanish swindle cases and which before the war, relieved Americans of a quarter million dollars annually.

Army Families In Japan Sector Flood Threatened

TOKYO, Sept. 15.—(INS)—Flood waters threatened the artillery headquarters of the U. S. First Cavalry Division 85 miles northwest of Tokyo today, and preparations were made to evacuate army families from the area.

Eight square blocks of Maebashi City already were under 8 inches of water, and the Tonegawa river was still rising as a result of incessant rain during the last few days.

The highways between Tokyo and the stricken area were impassable and the railroad tracks leading to the resort of Karuizawa, crowded with American occupation personnel and their families, were washed out.

The First Cavalry's Divisional Headquarters in Tokyo could not learn immediately how many American dependent families were threatened and did not know up to late today whether evacuations already were under way.

SEEK NEW INDUSTRIES

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 15.—(INS)—George P. Shotwell, president of the Pennsylvania Bankers Association, announced today that the PBA is vigorously campaigning for an influx of new industries into Pennsylvania.

Shotwell said the drive will be launched as part of Pennsylvania week, Oct. 13-19, designed to "promote Pennsylvania, its products and its people."

Plans for the fall session will be made at this time.

State Highway Bureau Reveals Punitive Total

Disclose 14,381 Drivers
Drew Revocations, Suspensions In 8 Months

TAKING LICENSES CUTS FATALITIES

By JACK WARD
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, Sept. 15.—The State highway safety bureau Friday reported 14,381 drivers had their licenses suspended or revoked during the first eight months of 1947. The figure represented a 60 per cent increase over 1946.

Director T. E. Transeau said he was "convinced" the "license-lift" program had resulted in a reduction of automobile fatalities.

He said 12,789 drivers' certificates were suspended and 1,592 revoked so far this year. Suspensions averaged 90 days and revocations were for a minimum of one year, he explained.

During the same period last year, 7,418 certificates were suspended and 1,352 revoked, he added.

"Despite severe criticism of the program, it has, in our opinion materially reduced the highway death rate," Transeau asserted.

He pointed out that motor vehicle deaths in the commonwealth during the first seven months of 1947 totaled 851, compared to 942 in the same period a year ago.

"We had 91 fewer deaths this year," he said. "It looks as if the state will be well under the 1700 auto deaths recorded last year."

Cites Reasons

He explained that the increase in licenses lifted followed a heavy rise in traffic and tightened postwar highway policing.

Transeau emphasized that "there has been no particular 'crack down' campaign against motorists."

More than 100,000 operators have paid the penalty since the program was instituted in 1938, he said.

Deaths in 1937 hit an all-time high of 2600, he said. The program to penalize reckless drivers reduced the toll by 20 per cent the following year and since then has resulted in similar annual decreases, he claimed.

Transeau said critics of the system contended first offenders should not be punished so severely.

"Our experience over the years has taught us that in a high percentage of cases where operators have been punished, they never again come to the attention of the department," he explained. "The average operator, once involved in such procedure, becomes an extremely conservative driver."

"It would not be too much to say that a large part of our system's philosophy is based on these thoughts."

He pointed out that 7135 suspensions, more than half of the total this year, were for speeding. Reckless driving accounted for 2026 others, while 541 were imposed for failures to appear at hearings.

Driving privileges were withdrawn for 90 days from 308 motorists involved in fatal accidents.

Intoxicated drivers accounted for 929 revocations. The balance of suspensions and revocations was imposed for more than a score of various offenses, he said.

Fishing Boat Blows Up; One Killed, 12 Hurt

One man, Jacob Sieber, 48, of Dunellen, N. J., was killed and 12 other persons were also hurt in the blast. The boat Paramount 3rd, was burned to the water line in the ensuing fire.

Others of the injured were treated at Point Pleasant Hospital and discharged.

Urge People Of U.S. To Eat Less

Harriman Urges Plan To Conserve Wheat For Hungry Europe

CLEVELAND, Sept. 15.—(INS)—W. Averell Harriman, secretary of commerce, called upon the American people today to voluntarily eat less meat to conserve wheat for hungry Europe.

At a meeting of the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce and the Cleveland world trade organization, Harriman declared the alternatives to such voluntary action are:

1. Bid up the price of wheat "to a point where it will not be profitable to feed it to animals."

2. Reinstate government controls.

The secretary said the first alternative is impractical because "the price of wheat and animal products might rise so high that there would be a natural demand of labor for increased wages, and we would be off again on another spiral of price increases in all fields."

He said "adequate" government controls "could hardly be established in time to be effective during this crop year."

In making his plea Harriman was repeating the proposal suggested last week by Chester Davis, a member of the Presidents committee on European reconstruction.

School Watchmen Will Be Marked

School watchmen who are paid out of an appropriation for Mayor John F. Haven's police department will wear a sort of uniform, commencing today for the purpose of identifying them to motorists as guards.

They will wear white belts. One strap goes around the shoulders and the other around the waist. In addition, they will wear blue police caps, with chromium shields.

Police officers who perform night traffic duty will also be outfitted with the new regalia, which can be seen better in the dark, because the white belt will be against dark clothing.

Paint Life...
Paint Cost...

These are the two things every property owner should look for in the paint job he buys.

The passing years have seen our jobs standing up under wear and weather keeping the surface solid and unbroken during the long life of the paint.

Voters Claim They Were Denied Ballot On Local Option In Ellwood City Precinct

OTHER HAPPENINGS ON COURT HOUSE HILL

Possibilities of a protest in the local option result in North Sewickley township of Beaver County were seen today. Voters of the second precinct of the second ward of Ellwood City, a precinct which is a part of North Sewickley township in Beaver County claim the question of local option was not on the ballot in their precinct.

This precinct is one in which the voters vote in both Lawrence and Beaver counties. The district is a part of Ellwood City but is also a part of North Sewickley township. In boro and school elections the voters cast their ballots in the second precinct of the second ward of Ellwood City.

In township, county and state matters they vote as a part of Beaver County. Each election, where they are eligible to vote for residents of Ellwood City for boro or school office, the Lawrence County Election Board certifies the list of candidates to Beaver County and Beaver prepares the ballot.

Some time ago residents of North Sewickley township asked for a local option vote. Proponents of the wet side claim the voters of the second precinct should have been given a right to vote upon the question.

They claim it was not on the ballot.

The drys won the election by a narrow majority.

DEMURRER OVERRULED

In an opinion by Judge W. Walter Braham, the demurrer of Lawrence F. Sonntag to the affidavit of defense of Alice L. Patterson is refused.

The case arises out of Sonntag's claim for commission in the sale of a piece of property for the defendant. Mr. Sonntag avers that he was retained to sell a store and contents owned by the defendant named Drake the property and then claims the defendant raised the price to $10,000. He showed a prospectus for $10,000. Mr. Drake eventually offered the $12,000 but Sonntag says the defendant insisted she must get $12,000 net.

The sale was delayed and, Mr. Sonntag claims, the defendant herself sold the property to Drake for $12,000. He entered suit and an affidavit of defense was entered. Sonntag demurred to the affidavit but Judge Braham has overruled the demurrer upon the ground that the case is one for a jury.

Around Hollywood

By JOHN TODD

International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 13.—Philadelphia may be touted as the "City of Brotherly Love," but the real McCoy is working overtime in Hollywood.

A batch of unpublicized brother acts were uncovered in the film center today.

Except for a few comedy teams like the Marx and Ritz brothers, fraternal combinations in movie town are scarce as corsets in a nudist camp.

Douglas Brothers

It is even rarer when brothers are cast in the same picture.

But Melvyn Douglas, currently starring in "My Own True Love," out at the Paramount film factory, plays important scenes with a character actor named George Douglas.

In real-life Melvyn is George's kid brother. In reel-life their situation is reversed.

Barry Fitzgerald's brother, Arthur Shields, has another juicy role in the same flicker. Arthur, like his Oscar-winning brother, is a product of Dublin's famed Abbey theater, where both made reputations as actors and directors.

Crooning Haynes

You've heard of a couple of boys Crosby—Bing and Bob. Bandleader Bob recently took a few stabs at performing before the cameras, and while he certainly is not a threat to Clark Gable or Van Johnson, he turned in creditable film efforts.

Did you know that Tom Conway and George Sanders are brothers? Tom followed George's footsteps in the acting business by starring in a series of popular detective pictures.

Pete Weismuller worked as a "stand-in" for his swimming brother Johnny in the movie "Swamp Fire," and before the epic was finally wrapped in the cans he was elevated to a minor role.

And so Hollywood is confronted with a new kind of double-feature.

ELLWOOD SAILOR ON NEW SUB

Will Take Post When Speaker Lichenwalter Takes His Seat In Congress

OTHER NEWS OF STATE AFFAIRS

HARRISBURG, Sept. 15.—(INS)—Majority Leader Herbert P. Sorg, Elk, will move into the speaker's office when incumbent speaker of the house Franklin H. Lichenwalter takes his newly won seat in the second session of the 30th congress . . . the majority leader's post will remain open until members of the state house of representatives convene for either a special session or the 1948 regular session . . . a few Republican house members anticipated some trouble choosing Sorg's successor since the majority bloc was short on leadership material . . . most promising legislators have served only one or two terms and lacked sufficient experience to hold various factions in line . . . among veteran members, only a handful showed definiteness in maneuvering votes and handling themselves on the floor.

Rep. Adam Bower, Northumberland, capable whip leader, also was believed out of the running for his defiance as chairman of the labor relations committee in killing fair employment practices legislation advocated by Gov. James H. Duff . . . Rep. Charles R. Brunner, Jr., Montgomery, a self-advanced candidate for the job last January, was considered the likeliest choice, although his popularity waned during the 1947 session with party leaders who frowned on his vigorous self-promotion campaigns.

William N. McNair, former mayor of Pittsburgh, reportedly was planning a political comeback as president . . . The Democrat who took the one-time Republican stronghold by storm in 1933, allegedly, has claimed supporters in New York, Boston and Chicago . . . He has been quoted as planning to campaign on his traditional "single tax" platform expanded to embrace a return to the gold standard and free trade with countries indebted to the United States to enable them to settle obligations.

McNair's political career has been marked with unpredictable antics . . . He clowned through part of his term as Pittsburgh's executives and suddenly resigned ostensibly for the sake of his health . . . Since he had refused to hew to party dictates while in office, his career was believed at an end . . . In 1944, however, he bobbed back into the political scene elected to the general assembly . . . He also unsuccessfully campaigned for governor.

Parole of two Jessup rapists denied prison release after their minimum sentences were commuted last December has become a political football in fight of two candidates for a Lackawanna county orphans court judgeship . . . District Attorney James F. Brady, Republican nominee, announced he would oppose their release while incumbent Judge Edward M. Murphy running on the Democratic ticket was not opposed to paroles . . . The parole board, in the middle of the fight, withheld authority for the release last February of James Giombetti, 23, and Octavio Ercoli, 30, after county residents protested.

Although Mexico City is situated nearly 7500 feet above sea level, it stands in a depression that once was covered by a lake.
